

TESTING METHODS

A test as to the value of newspaper advertising over other methods was made a year ago by the great publishing house of Harper & Bros. Two books were selected, one by a well known popular author and the other by an unknown writer. The latter was selected for the newspaper advertising and the other for the usual channels.

With equal expenditure the work advertised in the newspapers outstripped the other in sales by 200,000 copies.

The result was a complete surprise and established the fact that readers go to the newspapers for information with regard to books as well as with regard to most other matters.—National Printer Journalist.

The best advertising medium for any merchant is the local paper, which goes into the homes of the people, as this paper does.

THE OTHER SIDE

Defense in the Molineux Case Making a Very Strong Showing.

CORNISH IS THE MAN

Who Mailed the Now Famous Poison Package According to a Woman Who Saw It Mailed.

Sensational Testimony Offered By Wife of a Brooklyn Policeman.

New York, Nov. 7.—The greatest sensation in the second trial of Roland B. Molineux, charged with the murder of Mrs. Adams, came late yesterday when Mrs. Hannah Stephenson, the wife of a Brooklyn policeman, was called to the stand by the defense and testified positively that Molineux was not the man who mailed the now famous poison package at the general postoffice on the evening of Dec. 23, 1898. Then the witness partly identified Harry Cornish, who was asked to stand up in court, as the man whom she saw standing in front of her in the line at the postoffice and holding in his hand a package addressed to "Mr. Harry Cornish, Knickerbocker." That was all she saw. Her identification of Cornish was not positive. She said he looked very much like the man, but hesitated before replying affirmatively when asked if she did not think he was the man. The witness' accounts of her movements on the evening of Dec. 23 and her reasons for not appearing at the first trial were given in detail.

The prosecution on cross-examination brought out the fact that Mrs. Stephenson had suffered from attacks of nervous prostration within the last two years and had carefully read the details of the former trial. The questions of the assistant attorney tended to show that an effort would be made to prove insanity or delusion under hysteria. It is also probable that an effort will be made to prove an alibi for Cornish.

The witness, under questions by the prosecution, said there were three stamps on the package, and when shown the wrapper with five stamps on it in two rows, said she might have overlooked the lower row. Mrs. Stephenson was on the stand when court adjourned for the day.

Other witnesses were handwringing experts who all testified that Molineux did not write the address on the poison package. A clerk in a drugstore testified that he had sold bromo-seltzer to Cornish; also to Mrs. Rogers. Miss Miller, the clerk in the store where the bottleholder was purchased, testified that she sold the holder late in the evening. Her evidence was corroborated by a man who was in the store at the time. The prosecution has held that the holder was purchased early in the afternoon. Miss Miller positively swore that the man who bought the holder was not Molineux. Mrs. Anna C. Stephenson of Brooklyn, the eagerly-awaited witness who says she saw the poison package mailed by a man not Molineux, was called late in the afternoon. Men and women stood on the seats to see her, but order was quickly restored in the courtroom.

Replying to a question as to what she did Friday, Dec. 23, 1898, Mrs. Stephenson said she went to the main postoffice in New York to mail a package and got in line with other persons. A man in front of her with a package aroused her curiosity because he seemed very nervous, and she saw the name "Cornish" and the words "Knickerbocker Club" on the package. She said the man left the postoffice and she did not know where he went after that. The poison package wrapper was shown to the witness, and she said the address looked like the one she saw in the postoffice. Mrs. Stephenson said she attended the coroner's inquest and saw Molineux. She was sure he was not the man and told her husband she ought to make known her knowledge. He persuaded her that there was no occasion for her to mix up in the matter.

When the trial was on she went to offer her testimony, but was shut off by the decision of the lawyers to offer no defense. Then after Molineux's conviction she sent word of the evidence she had to give to General Molineux.

"Is that the man you saw with the package in the postoffice?" asked Governor Black as Molineux stood up.

"It is not," said Mrs. Stephenson, with added emphasis.

"Do you think you could recognize the man who mailed the package?" asked Mr. Osborne in opening his cross-examination.

"I think I can."

"Do you say Cornish is that man?" "I say he looks like him."

Cornish stood up at the invitation of the assistant district attorney, and he and the witness regarded each other steadily.

"Is that the man?" Mr. Osborne asked.

"It looks very much like him," Mrs. Stephenson replied.

"But is it?"

"To the best of my recollection, it is."

Mrs. Stephenson said it was at the first trial that she first recognized Cornish as the man who mailed the package. She testified that there were three stamps on the package and the wrapper was put before her. It had five stamps on it, and witness said she probably had noticed three of them which were in a straight line at the top, and had overlooked the two lower ones.

COMING CHANGES

State House Officers Who Will Go In January.

Indianapolis, Nov. 7.—Auditor of State Hart and Treasurer Levy will make Indianapolis their permanent home after their term of office expires. Hart will be succeeded by David E. Sherrick of Noblesville, Jan. 26, while Levy will give way to Nat U. Hill of Bloomington, Jan. 16. Hart has a fine residence in Woodruff place, so he will not return to his former home at Frankfort. It is understood he has been offered a lucrative position with a big insurance company. Levy was elected from Huntington, but he sold his residence there recently and is now a full-fledged resident of the capital city. Secretary of State Hunt, however, is going back to his old home at Winchester as soon as his term expires.

It is likely that the courts will have to decide who is entitled to the treasurer's office in Marion county, as both sides claim it. Oliver Ensley, the Republican candidate, according to returns received by the Republican county committee, has a plurality of about 200. On the other hand the Democratic county committee figures that August Kuhn, their candidate, has won by 200 or 300. The canvassing board is now meeting and it will probably not complete its work before tomorrow. Owing to the closeness of the figures both sides are contesting every inch of ground, so as to have the advantage when the work of the canvassing board is completed. The result will be so close that the losing man is sure to go into court. The race for treasurer was the most sensational ever known. The office is the best in the state, as it generally pays over $30,000 a year.

A grand rush is being made for the good seats in the legislative halls. The old-timers have stolen a march in most instances with the new men by nailing the best seats in advance. W. E. Henry, state librarian, has charge of the charts, and they show that a majority of the members-elect have marked their seats. Those who were members two years ago have moved forward for front seats. Newton Booth Tarkington, the author, has a seat about the middle of the house. His desk mate is Vernon VanFleet of Goshen, who was a member two years ago. The Republicans as usual will have the right side of the house and the left side of the senate. In the senate less than two rows will be required for the Democratic members. In marking their seats the idea with most members is to get where they can be seen and heard without difficulty.

The Democratic state committee rooms will be closed tomorrow, and Secretary Reley will go back to his old position with the streetcar company. The agreement when he took the secretaryship was that he should quit after the election. The headquarters in the Lemcke will probably be abandoned. However, it is possible that some headquarters will be maintained while the legislature is in session. The Republican headquarters in the Majestic will be kept open regardless of the fact that the campaign is ended. Chairman Goodrich has returned to Winchester to take up his law practice. Secretary Whitaker, who resides in Indianapolis, will have charge of the committee rooms.

Indianapolis hotels are filled with teachers who have come here for the annual meeting of the Central Ohio Teachers' Association. The teachers have been arriving on special trains since yesterday. The fact that the association has left its own home to meet in Indianapolis is regarded by educators here as a compliment, not only to the city but to the state. The Ohio people seem to be glad they are here. The regular program began this forenoon. The meeting will not end until tomorrow night, so it is quite likely that many Indiana teachers will take advantage of the opportunity of seeing how the teachers of an adjoining state conduct their work.

MORE EVIDENCE

Boston's "Jack the Slugger" Case Has Some New Developments.

HELD WITHOUT BAIL

On the Strength of Later Evidence Mason, the Millionaire Clubman Is Held to Answer to Murder.

Watches of Two of the Victims Had Been Offered in Pawn By Man Looking Like Him.

Boston, Nov. 7.—Late developments in the case of Alan G. Mason, who is under arrest charged with the murder of Miss Clara Morton, a laundress at the McLean asylum in Waverly, last Saturday night, have been of a startling nature. It was announced yesterday that the watch of the victim had been found in a Cambridge street pawnshop, where it had been pawned for $4 by a colored man, and this discovery at once led to a fruitless search of the city for this man by the entire police force. But later developments were far more sensational. When the pawnbroker's memory had been jogged a little and he had had time to think over the matter, he remembered that the watch had been brought to his office on last Saturday night between the hours of 11 and 11:30 by a white man and offered in pawn. Owing to the fact that it was after business hours, he refused to receive it, and after expressing disappointment the man departed, taking the watch with him.

On Monday morning the same watch was brought in by a colored man, from whom the pawnbroker bought it. A burly colored man, evidently a companion of the other, had been waiting outside the shop while the trade was being made, and as soon as it was completed he entered and took the money which the proprietor had passed over. Both men then departed.

Continuing their investigations, the officers made another startling discovery which will have an important bearing on the case, to the effect that the watch of Miss Agnes McPhee of Somerville, another "Jack the Slugger" victim, had been pawned at the same Cambridge street shop on Oct. 3, the day after her murder, by a white man, whose description tallied exactly with that of the man who brought the Morton watch to the pawnbroker's last Saturday night. The description of this man is said by the police to tally to a striking extent with that of the suspect Mason, and the pawnbroker will be given a chance to identify him if possible, as his visitor.

The unexpected developments have been most unfavorable to the prisoner, although his friends still say that he can fully establish an alibi. Search for the mysterious colored man is being carried on as vigorously as ever and all sections of the city are being closely watched by the police.

Two days ago the state police arrested A. G. Mason, a wealthy business man and club member of Boston, on the suspicion that he killed Miss Morton. After a day's investigation the authorities were convinced that Mason could establish an alibi, and they announced that he would be released, but during the succeeding night witnesses were found who positively identified Mason as one whom they had seen in Waverly, where the murder was committed on Saturday night. On the strength of the evidence yesterday a warrant charging Mason with murder was issued and he was held without bail until Tuesday.

They Let Well Enough Alone.

Rochester, N. Y., Nov. 7.—Tuesday was an important day on the Cattaraugus and Allegany reservations in western New York, the Indians holding their election. They used the blanket ballot. A bitter contest was on between the Democratic and Republican factions of the tribes. Elijah Turkey was the Democratic candidate for president, while Frank Paterson, Republican, was a candidate for reelection. The election resulted in a triumph for the Republican ticket. On both reservations 600 votes were cast. Paterson was a winner by forty majority. Eli T. Jimison was elected clerk and William Hoag treasurer. Republican councilors, surrogate, peace-makers, poor-marshals, chief marshal and police marshals were elected, although by narrow margins. Feeling ran high over the election, but there was no disorder of any kind. The Indians are leisurely and require at least ten days to canvass the vote.

A Royal Visit.

Kiel, Nov. 7.—Emperor William left here last night on board the imperial yacht Hohenzollern for England, where he will visit King Edward. A fleet of British torpedo boats will meet the Hohenzollern in British waters and escort her to Sherness. It is expected that the emperor will remain at Sandringham as the guest of King Edward until Nov. 16, when he will go to Louth castle to visit Lord Lansdale.

Fleming Wants Out.

Kokomo, Ind., Nov. 7.—A petition is being prepared asking the pardon of William Fleming, sentenced twelve years ago for the murder of Robert L. Jones, sheriff of Grant county.

MAY RELENT

Uncle Sam in a Yielding Mood Toward Cubans.

Washington, Nov. 7.—Contrary to the common understanding here, it appears that the draft of the Cuban reciprocity treaty has not yet left Havana on its return to Washington, but instead is now reposing in a pigeon-hole in the desk of President Palma. The misunderstanding as to the whereabouts of the treaty arose from a statement to the department from Minister Squiers at Havana to the effect that he expected the treaty to be dispatched to Washington the day following the sending of his message. However, it did not start then, nor has it yet. Cuban habits of procrastination rather than any disposition actually to refrain from entering into treaty relations with the United States are supposed to be the reason for the delay.

In view of the fact that the treaty has not yet come here nor has Mr. Squiers had a look at it, it follows that the United States government is officially ignorant of the nature of the changes that the Cubans desire to make in the convention. Of course generally these are known to be connected with the increase of the rebate to be allowed on Cuban sugar and tobacco entering the United States, and these are indications that the administration may be willing to yield slightly on this point if no unreasonable delay is exhibited in the negotiations on the part of the Cubans.

Gilman Heirs Agree.

New York, Nov. 7.—Notice of an agreement between the "half-blood" and "full-blood" heirs of George F. Gilman, the millionaire merchant, who died in his mansion, Black Rock, Bridgeport, Conn., leaving an estate over which was started a legal controversy that threatened to be long continued, was filed yesterday in the supreme court of Brooklyn. Under the new agreement the business formerly conducted by Mr. Gilman is to be organized in New Jersey with a capital of $2,100,000, $1,250,000 of which is to be issued to the administrators of the estate. They, in turn, are to divide the amount into fifths, four-fifths to be distributed among the full-blood relatives and one-fifth, or $250,000, among the half-blood relatives.

Mitchell Noncommittal.

Wilkesbarre, Pa., Nov. 7.—National Secretary Wilson of the United Mine Workers arrived here from Indianapolis today to hold a conference with President Mitchell regarding the final statement which will be submitted to the investigating commission when it meets at Scranton next week. Mr. Mitchell declined to discuss the report of the investigating commission when it meets at Scranton next week. Mr. Mitchell declined to discuss the report of the investigating commission when it meets at Scranton next week.

FOR FIFTY YEARS

Brother and Sister Kept Up a Search For Each Other.

REWARDED AT LAST

August Kregle of LaPorte County Finds Sister From Whom He Was Separated in Youth.

After a Separation of Half and Century They Are Brought Together.

LaPorte, Ind., Nov. 7.—August Kregle, of Stillwell, has just been reunited with his sister, Justina Kregle, of near Oxford, O., after a separation of forty-eight years. When they lost each other the brother was six years of age and the sister two years younger. The father of the two children died many years ago at Jeffersonville, and his dying request was that the son find the sister, of whom he had lost trace. The search which the son began at that time was prosecuted until yesterday when Miss Kregle arrived here from Oxford, O. The mother of the two children died in their infancy and they were placed with other families, growing to manhood and womanhood with the belief that fate would some day reunite them.

YOUR OWN RISK

Track Walkers Not Protected By Court Against Injury

Indianapolis, Nov. 7.—The appellate court held yesterday that one who uses the railroad track as a footpath does so at his own risk, although it has been so used by the public for a long time without any objection by the railroad company. This decision was made in affirming a judgment for the defendant in the action to recover for the death of Ellen Davis, an elderly woman, who was run over by a Big Four engine at Alexandria. The court said that the company owed her no duty except to avoid doing her any intentional injury, and was not liable for the carelessness of its engineer.

Much Married Man.

Richmond, Ind., Nov. 7.—Sheriff Crawford of Henry county came here and arrested George Beyers on the charge of wife desertion. The affidavit, however, bore the name of Edger Maddox, and it was found that the man had been in Richmond for a year or more under the assumed name of Beyers. He has been living here as a married man and his alleged wife claims that she was married to him at Indianapolis last March by a justice of the peace. She also claims that he told her that he had been married before, but she understood his wife had been divorced.

Remonstrance Held Good.

Indianapolis, Nov. 7.—A judgment granting John Nelson a license to keep a saloon at Leesburg in Kosciusko county, was reversed by the appellate court yesterday. A remonstrance against granting the license, bearing the names of a majority of the legal voters of the township, had been filed, but the trial court rejected it because all the names were signed by one man under a power of attorney from the voters. The appellate court holds that this was sufficient.

Left Their Tools.

Madison, Ind., Nov. 7.—An effort was made to rob the Lexington bank at Lexington, Scott county. Unknown men forced an entrance into the bank and went to work on the combination of the safe, in an effort to crack it. Perry Smith, president of the bank, whose home is in sight of the building, heard the noise and seeing a light in the bank, hastened to the place. The robbers saw him in time to run, but left their tools behind.

Badly Broken Man.

Newcastle, Ind., Nov. 7.—William Vance, north of here, seems to have been born under an unlucky star. He has had his legs and arms broken seven times, and in a football game this week had his shoulder blade broken. Vance spends most of his time recovering from accidents of this kind.

Back to Work.

Anderson, Ind., Nov. 7.—Work has been resumed on the Union six-story business block, and the workmen who had been on strike because of a disagreement among themselves have agreed that President Edgar A. Perkins of the State Federation of Labor shall hear and decide their grievance.

Will Bring Suit.

Plymouth, Ind., Nov. 7.—Marshall county farmers who sent livestock to Chicago and received bad checks in return, expect to recover their money by civil processes against Ewart Bros. & Barker. Farmers say they have learned that the Ewarts own 2,800 acres of land in Arkansas.

GLACIAL POWER

Will Be Used to Give Tacoma and Seattle Light.

Boston, Nov. 7.—Engineers are being sent from this city to Tacoma and Seattle to begin work on a project which has for its chief aim the harnessing of the waters of the Puget Sound glacier on Mount Tacoma, Washington, for commercial purposes. It is asserted that if successful this will be the first instance where glacial waters have been used directly to provide power. Stone & Webster of Boston, who have installed a great many street railways in all parts of the country, are undertaking the work in order to provide the cities of Tacoma and Seattle with electric light and power. The plan is to construct from the glacier a flume fourteen miles long, through which a head of water will flow sufficient to generate 50,000 horsepower. The water in running through the flume will drop 600 feet and will be diverted into turbines connected with electric generators. A three-phase alternating current will be transmitted at high voltage to Tacoma and Seattle.

MAKING A REST

Members of Mine Commission Go Home For Awhile.

Philadelphia, Nov. 7.—Chairman Gray, Recorder Wright, Brigadier General Wilson and Mr. Parker, four of the seven members of the anthracite strike commission, and Assistant Recorder Mosely, arrived here late yesterday afternoon from the coal region, where they have just ended a week's tour of the coal belt, and scattered for their respective homes. The commissioners finished their work in good physical condition and separated in the best of spirits. They have gained much information in the regions visited, and during the interim they will look over statistics which some of them have in their possession. The commissioners will meet again at Scranton on Nov. 14, when the hearing of the miners' side of the case will be begun. After they have concluded their case the operators will make their defense, after which the mine workers will probably be again heard in rebuttal.

MANY DROWNED

Devastating Storm Sweeps Over the Nome Coast.

Seattle, Wash., Nov. 7.—No less than eight men were drowned, three vessels driven ashore and practically every lighter on the Nome beach was wrecked in a storm that commenced on Tuesday, Oct. 14 and continued throughout the day. The facts are supplied by Purser Robertson of the Ohio, who arrived yesterday. A dozen or more people thrown into the surf were rescued by the life-saving crews. The schooner Louise, the steamer Elk and the launch Fleetwing were among the larger craft wrecked on the beach. In each instance the crews were rescued or managed to reach the shore. The storm caused the water to back up in Snake river and Dry creek, and the Dry creek bridge was washed away.

THE FARMER FAILS

In health just as does the city-man, and he fails commonly from the same cause, "stomach trouble." The farm is a wholesome place to live; but no external advantages can overcome the effects of a diseased stomach. When the stomach and its allied organs of digestion and nutrition are diseased, the food eaten is imperfectly digested and assimilated, and the consequent loss of nutrition results in physical debility.

Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery cures diseases of the stomach and other organs of digestion and nutrition, and enables the perfect digestion and assimilation of food. It builds up the body with sound flesh and solid muscle. I used ten bottles of Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery and several vials of his "Pleasant Pellets" a year ago this spring, and have had no trouble with indigestion since," writes Mr. W. T. Thompson, of Townsend, Broadwater Co., Montana. "Words fail to tell how thankful I am for the relief, as I had suffered so much and it seemed that the doctors could do me no good. I got down in weight to one hundred and twenty-five pounds, and was not able to work at all. Now I weigh nearly one hundred and sixty and can do a day's work on the farm. I have recommended your medicine to several, and shall always have a good word to say for Dr. Pierce and his medicines."

The sole motive for substitution is to permit the dealer to make the little more profit paid by the sale of less meritorious medicines. He gains; you lose, therefore accept no substitute for "Golden Medical Discovery."

FRIDAY NOVEMBER 7, 1902.

REPUBLICAN VICTORY IN INDIANA.

"There were no warring factions under distinct leadership except in the imagination of hostile critics. The influence of every prominent republican was earnestly in favor of the election of the state ticket. No distracting issue was brought into the canvass to destroy party harmony, as was the case in Wisconsin. Probably no republican in Indiana has had so much confidence in his infallibility as to set himself up as a dictator. Republican senators were neutral while other men in the party were seeking nominations of the state convention."—Indianapolis Journal.

The editor of the Journal does well to give the above as the first cause for the big republican victory in Indiana. Absolutely nothing was so potent for republican success as the fact that our United States senators worked hand in hand for success. Senator Beveridge not only worked for success generally, but commencing with his state convention speech, he continued to speak earnestly in behalf of Senator Fairbanks till the close of the campaign. Two years from now Senator Beveridge successor is to be elected, and that he will succeed himself is a foregone conclusion; and he will have no more earnest supporter than Senator Fairbanks. Not that Governor Darbin or others would not make good senators for they would, but the best interests of the party require the reelection of good men to the upper as well as the lower house of congress. An effort to defeat Senator Fairbanks this year, or of Senator Beveridge two years hence, would create factions and make trouble for Indiana republicans. No republican who puts the success of his party first will advocate the defeat of either of our senators.

The republican majority in the state is increasing. Even the Sentinel places it at 34,000 today.

Griffith's vote fell off very materially in several counties. A number of statesmen who want the nomination next time themselves did not help him any.

COUNTY Chairman W. H. Burkley and the precinct committeemen all over the county deserve much credit for their excellent work done during the campaign. The campaign was conducted on a high plain and the result is sufficient proof that effective work was done by the chairman and the precinct committeemen. The thanks of the party is due them.

The tabulated vote of Jackson county by precincts is quite interesting. A study of the vote shows that the republicans did remarkably well. Four years ago the democratic majority on the state ticket was 1067 and two years ago Bryan carried the county by 1034. This year the democratic majority on the state ticket is reduced to 742, a republican gain of 325 over the vote of 1898 and a gain of 312 over the vote for Bryan two years ago. And on the county ticket it is seen that all the majorities are reduced even more than on the state ticket, Isaacs for treasurer being elected by only sixty-seven. While the republicans in the county did well, and we congratulate them sincerely, had they done just a little better Frank Falk at least would have been elected as he should have been. The republicans had a strong ticket, and the reduced democratic majorities is sufficient proof that it was strong before the people every candidate made a good run. J. H. Hodapp was re-elected a member of the county council from the Fourth district. He has served in this same position since the law creating the county council was enacted and has made a most excellent official. The REPUBLICAN congratulates the republicans on the gains they have made and urges them to prepare now for the next contest.

Vinol, the New Form of Cod Liver Oil.

Causes a Sensation in Medical Circles.

Not Only in America, But in Europe.

"Good news goes fast," said Mr. Peter of the W. F. Peter Drug Co., yesterday, talking to a reporter about that wonderful Vinol, concerning which so much is heard nowadays. "Why, you know that besides being talked about in New England, many of the prominent papers in America are devoting more or less space to this wonderful discovery. See here, what do you think of this?" Whereupon Mr. Peter produced an article from the Lancet of London, England.

The Lancet is the greatest medical publication in the world, and anything appearing in its columns is considered as indisputable evidence. "Let me read this to you," said Mr. Peter. "I won't bother you with much of it, but here is enough to show you what the great men of the old world think of Vinol," whereupon he read the following:

"Recent investigation has led to the isolation of several distinct bodies in cod liver oil, notably amongst which are the alkaloids. Their principles have been tested faithfully and the results from the subject of an exclusive report by Gauties and Mourgues in the Journal de Pharmacie, who concluded that the combined active principles of cod liver oil act as powerful stimulants of nutrition and assimilation, and show definitely the nature of the principles to which the oil owes its valuable medicinal properties.

"And the best part of all this is," continued Mr. Peter, "it is not only the physicians that are enthusiastic, but the people who are taking the remedy. After all, I do not blame them much, either. It does not take but a minute for any one who is obliged to take cod liver oil to find out that Vinol is tasteless. Then the patient soon realizes its advantage. It does good so much more quickly, and accomplishes the desired end in a much more marked manner than cod liver oil in its crude form was ever able to do. Oh yes, of course I consider the success of Vinol as assured. How can it be otherwise,—a discovery that has revolutionized the form and made it practical to prescribe the greatest known medicine for all wasting diseases.

"Just think what it means: getting all the benefits in a concentrated form, and no more nauseating, vile-smelling grease. Yes, come any time you would like to see me. I am always glad to see you about Vinol, and I find out more to say in its praise every day."

Meeting of the County Medical Society.

The Jackson County Medical Society met Thursday Nov. 6th, in Library Hall with the following physicians present: Drs. Barnes, Galbraith, Graessle, Hill, Osterman, Ritter, Shields, Gerrish, Kamman, and H. A. Cummings of Clear Spring.

Dr. Galbraith read a paper on Suggestion in the Practice of Medicine. He showed what a great benefit this might be to the practitioner of medicine when used rightly and how this subject had been abused by quacks and charlatans of past and present generations. This subject brought out an interesting discussion and it may be studied further, in another meeting. It was voted that Dr. Galbraith have his paper published in some medical journal and if possible, supply members with reprints. Society then adjourned to meet again the first Thursday in December.

Adding Insult to Injury.

She had just handed him the frosty mitt, but he was game to the last hurdle. "If you are ever in trouble," he said, "do not hesitate to lift up your voice, and you will find me 'Johnny on the spot.'"

"I'm in trouble now," answered the human refrigerator, with a sigh long drawn out.

"And, behold," exclaimed the unsuspecting youth, "I am here."

"Yes," she said, "that's the trouble."—Chicago News.

No, Not You.

"Mamma, what was that fuzzy bundle you took out of papa's vest pocket and threw in the fireplace just now?"

"That was an accumulation of household recipes your father cut out of the papers downtown and put away for my benefit. I have to clean them out of his pocket about once a month."—Chicago Tribune.

A Faulty Apprehension.

Mr. Spriggins prides himself on understanding the value of money.

"And that's where Mr. Spriggins makes a mistake," said the liberal man. "He expects a dollar to buy two or three times as much as it has any right to and is continually being annoyed and disappointed."—Washington Star.

Fatal to His Candidacy.

"You have just as much right and theoretically just as good a chance as anybody else to be president," says the patriotic citizen to his neighbor.

"I cannot agree with you," sighs the neighbor. "We have no children, and that fact alone would lose me the photographers' vote."—Judge.

EDUCATING THE FILIPPINOS

What American Schools and American Teachers are Doing in the Philippines.

SOLANO, N. V., P. I., Aug. 21, 1902. EDITOR SEYMOUR REPUBLICAN:

Before leaving the United States for the Philippine Islands I often wondered what an American school in that group of Islands was like. Thinking that the readers of your paper might be interested in the subject of American schools in the Philippine Islands I will write briefly about them.

In the first place we must remember that the Filipinos are Malays, who in some localities have been slightly civilized by contact with the Spaniards in their long period of sovereignty over these islands. But it is estimated that only about ten per cent. of the inhabitants can speak Spanish. There is no record of any Malay people who have become a powerful nation.

Again, as the great mass of Filipinos cannot speak Spanish, they can only express their thoughts in a dialect that is used by the people of their own immediate vicinity. The people of one town may be totally ignorant of the dialect of a town only a few miles distant. These dialects are very rude. For example they do not distinguish between the tenses of verbs. The expressions, I go, I went, and I will go mean the same thing in their dialects. Of course a half civilized people, (and the most intelligent class of Filipinos as a rule are not more than half civilized,) will have a very elementary form of language.

These are the people that the American teachers in the Philippine Islands are teaching a new language and new ideals. The native teachers can, as a rule at least, speak, read and write Spanish. Many of them have been teachers in the Spanish schools. But it is a very difficult task for them to teach English. When they first begin their work it is necessary to give them the exact English expressions, in fact to make automatic with them everything that they do or say. But after a few months' service they become more able to help themselves.

At Solano and its barrios, (villages near, it having no independent municipal government,) I have ten Filipino teachers under my charge. One day of each week is spent in training these teachers in English and subject matter for their work during remaining days of the week. Also during one month of each year the American teachers must conduct a normal for the training of the native teachers.

The American teacher must devote a part of his time to the task of seeing that the native teacher does his work. These teachers as a class have only a slight idea of the value of punctuality. Although according to the program school should begin at eight he may not be at the school house before fifteen or twenty minutes, or perhaps much more, past eight unless he is compelled to be on time. Recess may last fifteen minutes longer than it should for all he cares. He simply forgets to notice such a small matter as a few minutes. In recitations he will direct all his questions to the entire class unless he is told not to do so; and telling will do no good unless he knows that the American teacher is taking note of what he is doing. When the teacher directs his questions to the entire class some at least can generally answer. These better pupils will take the lead and the others will follow in concert. This concert method was the Spanish way of conducting a recitation, and it is a very easy method for the teacher. Even when the native teacher has individual recitations he will call on the better pupils only to recite unless the American teacher interferes. I mention these traits of the native teacher just to give some idea of what we have to do here, and not in any unkind spirit. The native teacher does these things now because he realizes his own weakness. He is dealing with a strange language and the American teacher must have patience as well as firmness.

In the Spanish schools the pupils studied their lessons in a very noisy manner. They would read over their lessons loudly. The ones that could make the most noise were the most studious. Perhaps this habit of the boys and girls to talk while they are studying is the most difficult one to stop. The Filipino children are very spontaneous. When anything attracts their attention they wish to talk about it at once. When one is called upon to recite all wish to recite. Now all these violations of good order are not intentional at all. The native teacher will never forbid them until he is told to do so by the American teacher. It is my policy to use much patience. There has been an American teacher at Solano for about six months, and still the native teachers must be reminded occasionally that there is talking amongst his pupils.

When school begins in the morning or in the afternoon the pupils remain standing until their teacher takes his place; then they all say "Good morning" or "Good Evening" and at the tap of the bell sit down. Whenever a visitor enters the school room all the pupils stand up to greet him. The school boys and school girls here resemble those of the United States in some ways. They are mischievous, but have not yet learned "to play tricks" on their teachers. The boys unconsciously cast admiring glances toward the girls and the girls look slyly at the boys. Our kindergarten teachers at Solano has taught her children to play such games as "drop the handkerchief." I have taught the larger boys to throw and catch a ball, and to jump. The ball is generally an orange or some other kind of fruit. Occasionally there is a fistie combat, generally, and it may seem strange, between a boy and a girl. A boy does not hesitate to strike a girl, and the girl generally strikes back with as much force as the boy.

Each American teacher can receive pay for teaching a night school for adults, providing he can secure a large enough attendance. He may teach thirteen nights each month, and receive one dollar and fifty cents each night. At first an average nightly attendance of twelve was sufficient, but now this has been increased to twenty-five. At Solano I have a night school with an average nightly attendance of about thirty.

The United States is doing much for the Filipinos by establishing these schools. The Philippine Islands need a common language to unify the people and no language is superior to our own language. Before many years there will be educated Filipinos who can go ahead with the educational work that is being established by the United States without the aid of Americans.

Yours truly,
WILLIAM ABEL
CHOATE'S ADVICE.

It Led a Choleric Client into the Paths of Peace.

It seems always to have lain within the power of the distinguished lawyer and humorist, Rufus Choate, to lead a choleric client from ways of anger into the paths of peace. Just before the war a southern gentleman was dining with a friend in one of the best hotels of Boston. He was of French creole extraction, and his name was Delacour, says a writer in Lippincott's Magazine. The waiter was a colored man, and the southerner gave his orders in a very domineering fashion, finding fault freely with what was put before him and the way in which it was served. Finally the waiter became incensed and told Mr. Delacour to go to a place warm and remote. The latter sprang furiously to his feet and would have shot the offender dead if he had not been restrained by his wiser friend, who said:

"You can't do that sort of thing here. You will have to remember where you are."

"Do you suppose that I am going to put up with such insolence and not be revenged?" said the enraged man.

"Certainly not. But do it by process of law."

The landlord was first interviewed and the waiter discharged. That was not sufficient to satisfy the wounded feelings of Mr. Delacour. He asked who was the best lawyer in the city and was told it was Rufus Choate. Making his way to his office, he said:

"Mr. Choate, I want to engage you in a case. What will your retaining fee be?"

"About $50."

The check was made out and handed over.

"Now," said the lawyer, "what are the facts of the case?"

He was told. Said Mr. Choate thoughtfully:

"I know the United States law on the subject well, and I know the law of the commonwealth of Massachusetts, and I can assure you, sir, that there is no power on earth strong enough to force you to go to that place if you don't want to go. And if I were you I wouldn't."

"Well," said the southerner, accepting the situation, "I think I'll take your advice." And they parted good friends.

A Question of Ownership.

"Are you the man who advertises 'Own your own home'?" said the dejected looking caller.

"I am," answered the real estate dealer.

"Well, I'd like to get the recipe."

"The what?"

"The recipe. The modus operandi. I want to know what to do to own my own home. Our cook has a temper like a raging lion and muscles like Hercules. If you can, tell me how to dispossess her. Money's no object."—Washington Star.

A CONTRAST IN BOYS

TOWN AND COUNTRY LADS IN THE STRUGGLE OF LIFE.

Of the Men Who Have Achieved Great Prominence in Public Affairs the Rural Boys Are at Least Twenty to One Over the City Lads.

A country boy's lack of opportunity is his best equipment for the serious struggle of life. This sounds paradoxical, but it is true. It is just as true as the opposite proposition, that the greatest hindrances a city boy has to contend with are the opportunities which beset him when young and pursue him till he begins the real business of life, a business which each individual must carry on for himself. For the city boy everything is made as easy as possible. Even pleasure becomes to him an old story before he is out of his teens. Brought up in the feverish rush of a place where great things are happening day by day, he sees the world with a cynic's eyes and despises the small things which, like the bricks in a house, go to the upbuilding of characters and careers. He believes in using large markers in the game of life; for pennies and small units of value he has little taste and scant regard.

The conditions surrounding the country boy are as different as possible. There is a deal of regular work that every country boy must do, and this regularity of employment, mostly out of doors, inculcates industrious habits, while it contributes to a physical development which in after years is just as valuable as any athletic training that can be had. He cannot run as fast perhaps as those trained by a system. He may not be able to jump so high or so far or excel in any of the sports upon which we bestow so much time and from which we get so much of pleasure, but his development enables him to buckle down to the hard work in which hours are consumed and from which very little or no immediate pleasure is extracted. His strength may be something like that of the cart horse, but the cart horse is to be preferred where a long and steady pull is required. The thoroughbred race horse has a fine flight of speed and canters with delightful lightness and grace along the park bridle paths, but the heavy work is the work most in demand, and for that we want the draft animals every time.

Enthusiasm is the spur to endeavor, and at the same time it is the savor of life. The country boy whose ambition has taken him to town comes filled with enthusiasm. Even the little things are novelties to him, and as he accomplishes this and that he feels that he is doing something not only interesting, but valuable. His simple tastes have not been spoiled by a multiplicity of gratifications, and so he is glad of everything good that comes his way. At thirty, if he leads a clean life, he has more of the boy in him than his city cousin has left at fifteen. He does what is before him because it is his duty, while the other is apt cynically to question the value of doing anything and ask, "What is the use?"

Of the men who have achieved great prominence and high influence in our affairs of state the country boys are at least twenty to one over the city lads. Nowadays indeed our cynical city lads look upon men who take an active interest in public affairs as rather low fellows and quite beneath their association and notice. But the country boys are at the top in other lines of endeavor. In finance they are pre-eminent, and the great bank presidents today in the great cities nearly all learned to read and to cipher in country schools where birch and ferule had not succumbed to the civilizing influences of scientific pedagogy. Our great railroads were in the main built by them, and today the administrators of these great companies are in great measure from farms and country villages, from places where work began in early infancy and a sense of duty developed while still the lip of childhood lingered.

Some city boys, however, are of such sturdy stuff and endowed with such natural gifts that they succeed by reason of their inherent superiority. Others succeed abundantly because they have used their opportunities wisely and in real life have pursued the same course which enables so many country boys to win fame and fortune. The more honor to them for having survived their too great opportunity! But the country boy when he reaches town reaches out for the high. Though not all find seats of mighty, nearly all of the exalted positions are filled in the end by men country birth and country rearing, for they usually start out with the sound theory that what worth having is worth striving for.—John Gilmer Speer in Brandur Magazine.

Scotch Civility.

A lady went out in search of others who had gone out for a some time before. She met an old man, and asked him if he saw two ladies pass this way. "Na, nor I wisna look in for them."

She met another and asked the same question. "Na, but there micht 'a' been ten pass't for anything 'at I ken or care."

At last she met a boy and asked the same question. He replied, "Na, I didna see ony ladies, but I saw twa aul' wives."—Scottish American.

His Boy's Future.

"Are you educating you son for particular calling?"

"Yea."

"What?"

"Well, he made his own selection, and as near as I can find out he is educating himself to be the husband of an heiress."—Chicago Post.

Quail Season.

The quail season in Indiana will open next Monday, November 10th. Hunters should not forget, however that the law requires them to have the written consent of the land owner, or his tenant, before entering upon a man's farm with dog and gun.

One Minute Cough Cure

is the only harmless cough cure that gives quick relief. Cures coughs, colds, croup, bronchitis, whooping cough, pneumonia, asthma, lagrippe and all throat, chest and lung troubles. I got soaked by rain, says Gertrude E. Fenner, Muncie, Ind., and contracted a severe cold and cough. I failed rapidly; lost 48 lbs. My druggist recommended One Minute Cough Cure. The first bottle brought relief; several cured me. I am back to my old weight, 148 lbs. One Minute Cough Cure cuts the phlegm, relieves the cough at once, draws out inflammation, cures croup. An ideal remedy for children. Pellens' drug store and Peter's drug store.

WEATHER INDICATIONS.

CHICAGO, ILLS., November 7, 1902.—Fair tonight and probably Saturday; rising temperature.

Uncle Sam's Capitalists.

Farmers, so far as actual wealth is concerned, are the capitalists of the United States. The census bureau report on the value of farming property of the country estimates that the 5,739,657 farms of the United States are worth $16,674,690,247. Of this amount, $3,569,193,191, or 21 1/4 per cent., represents the value of buildings, and $13,114,497,056, or 78 3/4 per cent., the value of land and improvements. Farm implements and machinery are worth $761,261,550, and live stock is worth $3,078,050,041, making the total farming wealth, over $20,514,000,000.—"Success."

Gramophone Entertainment.

Hermion Lodge No. 44, K. of P., and their friends were entertained at the castle ball last evening by George F. Meyer with an excellent gramophone entertainment. Mr. Meyer is fortunate in having an unusually good machine. A good crowd was present and spent an enjoyable evening.

Supreme Court Decision.

The supreme court has decided that a married woman is not bound by a mortgage executed by her for the benefit of her husband. The decision was made in the case of William Liberezh. He and his wife mortgaged land which they owned jointly and he used most of the borrowed money in building a livery stable on a lot which belonged to others. Afterward he and his wife made the necessary affidavit and procured a deduction from the taxable value of their land under the mortgage exemption law. The court held that the mortgage could only recover a personal judgment against the husband on the note which the mortgage pretended to secure.

Dr. and Mrs. Hill Entertain.

Dr. and Mrs. L. B. Hill delightfully entertained a company of their friends last evening at their home on West Second street. The host and hostess and the guests were costumed, "some in rags, some in tags and some in velvet gowns," and in most instances the costumes were unique and striking and caused much merriment during the evening. The parlors were decorated in keeping with the make up of the company. Social amusements added to the pleasures of the evening. Refreshments were served.

Catarrh and Hay Fever.

Liquid Cream Balm is becoming quite as popular in many localities as Ely's Cream Balm solid. It is prepared for use in atomizers, and is highly prized by those who have been accustomed to call upon physicians for such a treatment. Many physicians are using and prescribing it. All the medicinal properties of the celebrated Cream Balm are contained in a Liquid form, which is 75 cts. including a spraying tube. All druggist, or by mail. Ely Brothers, 56 Warren St., New York.

DIED.

LUX—Nicholas Lux, who has been in declining health for a long time, died at his home in the Third ward Thursday night, aged 78 years. He was the father of Mr. Joe Stein. Mr. Lux was a well known resident of Seymour and had many personal friends.

ROBBINS.—George, son of James Robbins, died Friday morning, Nov. 7, at 6 o'clock, aged 18 years. Funeral Saturday at 2 p. m. Burial at the Crane cemetery.

Luck in Thirteen.

By sending 13 miles Wm. Spirey, of Walton Furnace, Vt., got a box of Bucklen's Arnica Salve that wholly cured a horrible fever sore on his leg. Nothing else could. Positively cures bruises, felons, ulcers, eruptions, boils, burns, corns and piles. Only 25c Guaranteed by C. W. Milhous, druggist.

Judge Applewhite's Funeral.

The funeral of the late Judge Ralph Applewhite will take place at Brownstown Sunday forenoon at 10:30 under the auspices of the Masonic lodge. Quite a number will go from here to Brownstown to attend the funeral.
